PRESIDENT'S TEAM TALK

It's been a busy old start to the season for your committee and everyone involved with the game.

March and April saw the NZ Barbarians Under 20s in action again in Taupo, we were involved in the draw for the Under 85kg National Club Cup, we helped out the North Shore club on the occasion of its 150th jubilee, and there was a very successful golf day on April 28 at the Maungakiekie GC to help raise funds for women's rugby.

Nick Sheppard and Monalisa Urquhart also represented the club at New Zealand Rugby's AGM on April 27, showing we are very much a significant partner of the game's governing body.

Our Under 20s performed well, once again, and it was great to see head coach Steve Jackson be promoted to Black Ferns assistant coach, and Kenny Addison now joining the North Harbour coaching team to replace Jacko. It shows the pathways are open for people involved with our club's teams, and not just players.

This year we have seen Jack Taylor (NZ Barbarians U18s in 2021) and Nikora Broughton (NZ Barbarians U20s in 2022) turn out for the Highlanders in Super Rugby.

We all had fun at the golf day, which was driven by Mark Walsh and Anthony Mika. We haven't had a golf day in some time, so this was a prime chance for members to reconnect and rediscover some of that camaraderie. Two old Auckland and All Blacks teammates Bernie McCahill and Steve McDowall played together. I played with Ofisa Tonu'u, among others. It was a packed club afterwards to talk about the hot scoring, though not sure about some of the arithmetic! But it was a great day.

Our new members' induction event was held on March 26, and the 16 who have joined are of a high calibre. It's not just about what you have done in rugby in the past, but what you are doing now in rugby which is important.

Our NZ Barbarians team and helpers showed great commitment on Easter weekend to help North Shore with its big jubilee. The boys wore black armbands to mark the passing of Ken Whetton, the father of AJ, who was team manager. It was an old school draw, and they all enjoyed the hangi. Thanks to 'Buck' Shelford and Frano Botica and the Shore crew.

Looking ahead, the annual Fun Day will be on Sunday May 28 at my club HQ at Bruce Pulman Park. This will only grow after a tricky last couple of years with Covid-19, but already some members from around the country have expressed interest in holding fun days in their back yards.

If you're keen to help out, drop Regina Sheck a line at regina@ bluelight.co.nz. She is helping drive the day, along with Rick Johnston and Ron Williams. We've got the Blues, both men and women, coming along to join the fun.

Deaths Of Members

John Hunt (1950-2023)

John Hunt was a life member of the Auckland Marist club, serving Marist in a variety of roles, including President from 2010-12, over more than 40 years.

A champion of the grassroots, John was just a good bloke, well liked by all. He served as a director on the Auckland Rugby Union board and was chair of the council of delegates from 2008-13.

During the 1970s and '80s he served in the New Zealand Army, posted to the Middle East, among other regions.

Trevor Esterman (1929-2023)

Trevor Esterman, whose funeral was held last month in Tauranga, played for the Grammar Old Boys club, as it was then known, out of Auckland Grammar School, through the 1940s and '50s.

He was a great mate of the late Barbarians member and Auckland wing Lyn Russell, who recalled that Trevor was a valuable member of the club and often played in the Sunday Baabaas matches that were vogue at the time.

Don Dormer (1938-2023)

Don Dormer died after a long illness, but was an enthusiastic supporter of club activities until a few years ago.

He was the 26th President of the club, serving from 2004-05, and was made a life member not long after that.

In his playing days as a goalkicking fullback, Don played two games for Auckland (1960 and '65) out of the College Rifles and Takapuna clubs, and 17 games for Wanganui (1963-64), as it was then, out of the Marton Athletic club. He also appeared for Auckland B and the Vikings club in a 27-match career.

SUPER RUGBY UNDER 20 TOURNEY REVIEW

Our NZ Barbarians Under 20s again acquitted themselves well at the Super Rugby tournament in Taupo in late March.

Three matches in seven days saw the team, which was an Under 21 combination, finish fourth out of eight teams, the highlight being the 35–27 victory over the Crusaders on the first match day.

Captain and loose forward Will Bason of Auckland looks a good footballer, while No 8 Xavier Saifoloi and halfback Logan Love were outstanding on day one, in particular. The Baabaas led 21–8 at the break against a team that had been training together for much longer.

The second match saw a 51–26 defeat to the Blues in what was effectively a semifinal. The score was not a true reflection of the contest, with the Baabaas competitive for large periods before a late Blues flourish.

Despite an outstanding counter-attacking try to halfback Tyler Blake and a MVP effort by fullback Angus Hammett (son of Barbarian Mark Hammett), the team fell 41–22 to the Highlanders on finals day.

In all, they played some very good, open, cohesive rugby and this side has swiftly become a source of pride for the club to go alongside the NZ Barbarians U18s and NZ Barbarians Area Schools.

The Baabaas were coached by Steve Jackson, Mark Hooper and Jono Hickey, managed by Peter White and with support from 'Spy' Kelly and Deano Allnutt.
